MARYVILLE ON BIG HIGHWAY

IS ON MAIN TRANS-CONTINENTAL ROAD

TO BE HARD SURFACED

Will Probably Be Routed From Braddyville, Ia., South to No. 18 and Then East to Here

The highway from Braddyville, Ia. south to a point about two miles east of Burlington Junction where it connects with No. 18 east to Maryville and then south through Savannah and St. Joseph has been designated as a federal aid highway and has been made a part of a new national road program, according to information received in Maryville today.

This road will be of the hard-surface type, eighteen feet wide. From Kansas City the federal aid highway will follow what is known as Route No. 1 through the state south to Joplin and then in a general way will follow what is known as the Jefferson highway, it is understood here.

The route will go south to New Orleans and will be one of the principal north and south trans-continental highways. The northern point of the hard-surfaced road will be Winnipeg, Canada.

It is understood that this road, routed through Maryville, will be the main north and south route through Missouri.

What is known as the Jefferson highway will be routed southwest from Bethany through Pattonsburg, then on through Cameron and Kansas City. This will be made a federal-aid hard-surfaced road, it is understood here.

It is thought that work on these roads will start within a short time.

The federal-aid hard-surfaced highway through Maryville will mean much to this city. It will bring thousands of tourists through here annually because of its importance as a north-and-south trans-continental highway from Winnipeg to New Orelans.

From Braddyville north, the road will follow, in a general way, what is now known as the Itasca Park highway.

These roads will be made a part of a fifty-thousand-mile system honeycombing the United States from Canada to the Gulf and from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

These roads were selected by the joint board on interstate highways and will be designated with uniform road markers.

The actual grouping of these roads into main arterial highways was abandoned at Washington yesterday by the full committee and was turned over to a sub-committee, which after making tentative designations, will submit recommendations to the various states for approval.

The sub-committee which will complete the work on the system is composed of E. W. James of the bureau of public roads, chairman; F. T. Sheets, of Springfield, Ill.; B. H. Piepmeier, Jefferson City, Mo.; R. A. Cline, Salem, Ore.; Charles H. Moorefield, Columbia, S. C.; and Cyrus S. Avoy, Oklahoma City, Okla.

All Federal Aid Roads in Every federal aid highway in the United States is included in the system, which provides for no through routes, but embraces every state capital and most points of national and sectional interest.

When the routing of the highways is completed, they will be numbered so that tourists traveling on any road may know from its number the territory through which he is passing and where he is going. The routes also will be posted with uniform signs informing the traveler of curves, railroad crossings and other conditions of the road.

Missouri roads were named as follows:

One from the north border of Missouri, near Burlington Junction to St. Joseph, Kansas City, Butler, Lamar, Carthage, thence into Oklahoma through Joplin.

Another road from the north border at Andover, south to Bethany, Cameron and Kansas City.

Another from the North border, near Princeton, south to Chillicothe, Waverly, Marshall, Sedalia, Preston, Springfield, thence into Arkansas.

Another from the north border near Lancaster, south to Kirksville, Macon, Columbia, Jefferson City, Rolla, Houston, West Plains, thence into Arkansas.

Another from Joplin to Carthage, Springfield, Lebanon, Rolla and St. Louis.

Another from Kansas City to Boonville, Warrenton and St. Louis.

Another from Kansas City to Sedalia, Jefferson City, Drake and St. Louis.

Another from the west border at St. Joseph to Cameron, Chillicothe, Macon and Hannibal, and thence into Illinois.

Several Maryville parties have been greatly interested in getting Maryville on this transcontinental highway. The movement started a few years ago and credit should be given to J. F. Hull, Dr. Jesse Miller, Sr., and George A. Pickens, who was at that time secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Miller served in the legislature at Jefferson City during the road session while Mr. Hull has made many trips to that city in the interest of securing the road through Maryville.

PROGRAM IN GOOD "FINIS"

KEIGHLEY COMEDY DELIGHTS A BIG AUDIENCE.

IS UP TO STANDARD

1925 Session Is Financial Success—180 Persons Sign Guarantee List for Next Year.

William Keighley and a good company put a delightful "finis" to the week of Chautauqua happiness here last night. A laughing, highly pleased crowd streamed from the tent at the conclusion of "Adam and Eva," a comedy rich in good humor and presented as the Keighley players usually present their offerings. Nothing more entertaining was seen at the chautauqua this season. The play is a laughable presentation of humorous situations in American home life. William Keighley played a leading role, which is but another way of saying that the play was well played and was worthy of playing well. If there need be a lesson in the play, it is that American youth, spoiled with plenty and no responsibility, when pushed to the wall can deliver itself. But moralization stands in the way. It was a happy affair and worth much, simply for the laughter it provoked.

One hundred and eighty persons signed the guarantee list for the 1926 Chautauqua program, it was announced this morning by Roland Wray, president of the local association. This is one of the largest guarantee lists in the history of the local organization.

Taken as a whole the Chautauqua program this year was very good. With but one or two exceptions all of the performances were up to the usual standard. From a financial standpoint, this year's seven-day session was one of the most successful ever held in Maryville.

uring the past year $17,203.79 in outstanding warrants in the road and bridge fund have been paid. On August 1, 1924, these outstanding warrants amounted to $64,234.59 while this August they were $47,230.80.

New Service Became Effective Between United States and Southern Country August 1

Collect on delivery mail service has been established between the United States and Mexico, according to announcement made today by J. F. Hull, postmaster. The service became effective August 1. Mexico is one of the first foreign countries to have this service extended by the postoffice department.

The amount to be collected for any package must not exceed $100. The rate of postage is 1½ cents an ounce up to 8 ounces and packages above that weight will be rated as for parcel post packages in foreign mail, which to Mexico is 12 cents a pound. The limit is 22 pounds per package.

In addition to this fees will be charged as follows: Value to $10, 30 cent fee; to $50, 45 cent fee; to $100, 60 cent fee. There will also be a terminal fee of 2 cents a pound or fraction of a pound; finally, a delivery charge of 5 cents a package will be charged on all C. O. D. packages received in this country from Mexico. The latter is to insure the package against total loss through delivery. A charge of 5 cents a day for each package held more than 15 days will be charged if a package is not called for at the end of that period.

American Captive Is Reported Still Alive

Peking, Aug. 6—Dr. Harvey Howard, American, captured by Manchurian bandits in the recent assaults that resulted in the death of William Palmer, another American, was reported alive and well today by American Consul Sokobin at Harbin, who is now twenty-five miles from the bandit camp negotiating for Howard's release.

From Maryville to New York for $1.80

This Is Not An Excursion But Charge On Telephone Call Put In Last Night.

When Alexander Bell invented the telephone more than a half-century ago it is doubtful if the fervent inventor even dreamed of the future possibilities of the instrument by which the sound of the human voice can be transmitted over wires.

In the early hours of today a salesman put in a call at the Linville Hotel for a person in New York City. Within a few minutes connections were made and the salesman in Maryville heard the person in New York as distinctly as if the latter had been in the same room.

The cost of the call was $1.80—which is the station-to-station rate from Maryville to New York.

1.5 INCHES RAIN UP TO NOON

AND IT WAS STILL RAINING THIS AFTERNOON.

CORN CROP IS NOW SAFE

Rain Was General All Over Nodaway County—Interfered With Opening of Barnard Picnic Today.

Today's rain amounting to 1.51 inches according to J. R. Brink, weather observer, will make the corn and now the only thing in a way of big bumper corn crop will be either a wind or hail storm.

The rainfall in Maryville amounted to .21 of an inch up to 7 o'clock this morning and from that time up to 1 o'clock this afternoon it was 1.3 inches. It was a steady rain and just the kind of a rain that was needed.

The rain was general over the county. J. D. Baker, division passenger agent of the Burlington at St. Joseph, who came to Maryville today at noon, reported rain in that city and all the way from that city to Maryville.

In telephoning every town in the county, they all reported rain was falling today and it was still continuing this afternoon.

At press time this afternoon it was still raining in Maryville.

The rain interferred with the opening day of the Barnard picnic today.

British Government Lowers Money Rate

Hopes That Cheaper Currency Will Aid Trade—Isn't Worried About Return To Gold Standard.

London, Aug. 6.—The bank rate was today reduced from 5 to 4½ per cent. This reduction is interpreted as reflecting the government's effort to aid trade by making money cheaper. It also is taken to indicate that the government is no longer worrying about the return to the gold standard, or its ability to keep the pound at bar.

SAYS MINERS OPPOSE STRIKE

LEWIS DECLARES WORKERS STILL HAVE HOPE.

WANT AN AGREEMENT

However, Preparations Are Going Forward for Strike Call, September 1 In Anthracite Fields.

Atlantic City, Aug. 6.—"The 158,000 hard coal miners of the United States do not want to strike September 1. They want to stay at work and support the 800,000 persons dependant upon them. The miners hoped they could reach an agreement with the operators. They haven't given up hope in spite of the crisis that has developed."

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, made these statements in an interview today.

"I regret," said Lewis, "that the wage negotiations with the operators were unsuccessful. However, no other result could be expected when representatives of the operators entered the conference under ironclad instructions to concede nothing whatever to the miners. We had hoped the conference would reach an agreement. We still want an agreement so that the miners may continue at their work."

Yet, while Lewis was making this statement, preparations were going forward for the strike. Forty members of the union's general scale committee met and authorized Lewis and other high officials who have been conducting the negotiations with the operators to issue a strike order, effective September 1, in the event no agreement can be reached.

PAYS $1,000 TO ADOPT GIRL

BROWNING CONFESSES FOLLOWING THREATS.

HE MAY FACE JURY

Wealthy New York Real Estate Man Says He Paid Money in Checks to Each Parent.

New York, Aug. 6.—A threat by B. S. Coler, welfare commissioner, to investigate reports that Edward A. Browning, wealthy divorced real estate man, had paid $20,000 to the parents of Mary Louise Spas in connection with his adoption of her, today brought an admission from Browning that he had paid the girl's parents $1,000.

Coler, who criticized Browning's advertising campaign preliminary to the selection of Mary Louise from twelve thousand applicants, said the procedure was demoralizing.

"If it could be shown Browning paid money to the girl's parents," Coler declared, "the matter would assume a different aspect and I probably would place the whole matter before the grand jury."

Browning, in admitting he paid the girl's parents $1,000, said the money was given in $500 checks, one to each parent.

Another Alienist Says Scott Is Sane

Dr. William Krohn Declares Condemned Man Is In Full Possession Of Senses—State Rests.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Russell Scott today heard another noted alienist call him sane. Dr. William Krohn, the first of the day's witnesses in the sanity hearing to save Scott from the gallows for the murder of Joseph Maurer, testified Scott appeared to be sane, in full possession of his senses and perfectly aware of the significance and reason for the death penalty hanging over him.

Dr. Krohn's examination was brief and counsel for Scott declined to cross-examine.

As soon as the alienist finished his testimony declaring his belief Scott was sane, the state rested and Attorney O'Brien began his address to the jury in behalf of Scott.

Mine Subsidy Still Arouses Opposition

Strike Troubles Grow More Serious in Wales—Eight Police Injured in Riots

London, Aug. 6—Strike troubles grew more serious in the anthracite district of Ammanford, Wales, today as Premier Baldwin and his cabinet braced themselves for the attack on the coal subsidy in Commons.

Eight police were injured in riots during the night at Ammanford.

The torrent of criticism aroused by Baldwin's promise of a subsidy to avert a strike of all the coal miners continued today as the issue held the attention of Parliament. Increased opposition was aroused when it was discovered that the subsidy may cost as much as twenty-four million pounds sterling.

Denies He Asked Enloe to Resign

Governor Baker Issues Statement Repudiating Story Published In Number of Missouri Papers Today.

Jefferson City, Aug. 6.—Flat and emphatic denial was made by Governor Baker today that he ever requested or ever anticipated the resignation of Cortez Enloe, head of the state penal board and member of the state board of health, as was published in several Missouri newspapers today.

It was declared Governor Baker had requested the resignation after conferring with Dr. Emmett North of St. Louis, president of the Missouri Medical Association, and Dr. James Stewart, secretary of the medical board, who accused Enloe of misusing the power of his office, according to current reports.

Enloe was charged with securing physicians' licenses for applicants not legally entitled to them.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER
By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—The Democrats have doped out a program they believe will make the Republicans a heap of trouble at the next session of Congress. The Republicans have doped out a counter-program to ward this trouble off.

The Democratic scheme is to make an awful racket about tariff reduction. The Republican scheme is to make so much more racket about tax reduction that the tariff reduction racket will be drowned out.

Both parties will be doing their hollering with a view to its effect on the 1926 congressional elections.

"The tariff," said the Democrats to themselves, "is an important issue, but little understood, except by economists, of whom there are precious few. We must jazz it up for common folks. Wouldn't it be grand if we could get the solid women's vote?

"By gracious! Maybe we can. Look how the cost of housekeeping has been rising lately. And women pay the bills. They'll be in a mighty favorable frame of mind to listen when we tell 'em, 'The high tariff's what makes everything so expensive.'"

The Republicans are painfully conscious that this may be so.

The Republicans can't prevent the Democrats in Congress from telling the nation, in dozens of speeches next winter, what a good thing tariff reduction would be.

They can contradict, but they suspect the Democratic argument, presented as evidently it's going to be presented, will have a pretty strong appeal. They want something to talk about themselves—and something to show, that they've actually done for the voters.

The Republican offering will be tax reduction. Every time a Democrat urges tariff reduction a Republican will remind the nation that his party is in the very act of reducing taxes.

The Republicans meant to reduce them anyway and they'll make the most of doing it.

And in the 1926 campaign, every time a Democrat pleads for a chance to lower living costs by tariff reduction, a Republican will answer, "That's talk. We acted. We cut taxes down."

The money you make doesn't do you half as much good as the money you save.

Merchants to Battle Strong Atchison Team

The Maryville Merchants team has grown chesty of late, due to the recent victories, and have now matched a game with the Atchison All-Stars which will be played at the Old Fair Grounds on Sunday afternoon.

The Atchison team is recognized as one of the strongest teams in this section and the Merchants will have to step a lively clip of baseball in order to continue their winning streak.

Buhler will be the moundsman for the Maryville team. Buhler has been going strong in the last four games and is expected to pitch air-tight baseball. The Merchants have regained their batting eye on the offense and this combined with effective pitching should carry them a long ways.

The Atchison team recently shut-out the strong Maitland team to a 11 to 0 tune.

Must Advertise to Beat Bell Ringers

Newspaper Publicity Regarded as Sure Weapon Against "Peddlers —is Growing Competition

St. Louis, Aug. 5—Good advertising, especially newspaper advertising, is the greatest weapon of the retail merchant in eliminating the house-to-house canvasser, T. K. Kelly of Minneapolis, told the American Retailers Association in semi-annual session here yesterday.

"The bell ringer," he said, "is selling thousands upon thousands of dollars worth of merchandise in each community in the country that should be sold through the established retail stores. The bell ringer is a growing competition to the retail stores, because the housewife is ignorant of the economics of distribution and she believes the unsupported claim that he can sell better and cheaper than the retail stores."

Referring to the remedy of newspaper advertising, he said:

"It has become the habit of the American people to do practically all their shopping through the newspaper and the newspapers in America today have too great an economic force to need any recommendation.

"The crying need of the public today is better educated clerks; more complete stocks and real appreciation on the part of the retailers and their associates of their customers."

Bad Check Artist Fails in Attempt

(Barnard Bulletin)

Three young men drove up to the Campbell Garage Monday night and made a purchase offering in payment a check on a Wisconsin lumber firm.

Deputy Sheriff John Rasco was called and after some questions were asked the one offering the check was arrested but the other boys had disappeared. The young fellow arrested was taken to Maryville by Deputy Rasco and Dean Campbell and the other two youths were picked up near the Davis schoolhouse as they were footing it back to Maryville. The two were released as they claimed to know nothing of the checks and were innocent of any wroug doings.

The boy attempting to pass the check gave the name of Kendall Gray and is said to be living with Granvil Gray. He is sixteen years of age. A second check was found on Gray. The one was made by the Falkner Bros., Mfg. Co., to the Popular Lumber Co., of Popular, Wisconsin, for the amount of $10.00; the other was on the Northern Auto Supply Co., of Marshall, Wisconsin, for $18.16.

Gray was held in the jail at Maryville until Tuesday evening when he was released for want of prosecution. He claimed he had found the checks.

SIDE PAINED HER TERRIBLY

After Childbirth Women Should Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Normal Conditions

St. Louis, Missouri.—"After my first child was born I was bothered with a pain in my side which became more severe the longer I let it go. It was terrible. I often had to lie down to get any relief. I was in a weak and run-down condition, and my side seemed to be the point for all the pain. I was this way for three months, then I read your little booklet and the testimonials it contained, and started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I could feel relief after the first bottle and I have found it to do all you claim for it. I had to repeat it again after my second child was born. I sure will recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends."—Mrs. N. R. LAYTON, 2726A University St., St. Louis, Missouri.

If you are suffering from any weakness which causes such symptoms as pains in the side and back and nervous feelings, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial now.

Do not continue to feel all run-down and half sick when relief is at hand.

Hobbies of the Great and Near Great in American National Life

SENATOR JAMES COUZENS.

The richest man in the Senate is a "Good Samaritan" to crippled children.

This is the secret hobby of Senator James Couzens (R., of Mich.), who won recent renown by his bitter tax controversies with the Treasury Department. In his public career he has been associated with stupendous sums of money, with gigantic business deals and with intricate political issues, but in his private life he is revealed as a generous, warm-hearted god-father to maimed kids.

Up in Detroit, Couzens maintained a private hospital for crippled youngsters. It has every health-restorer known to science. Its doors are flung wide open to the unfortunate children of Michigan. There are free rooms, free doctors, free specialists, free operations, free treatments, free meals and free nursing. Couzens pays the bills.

Fights Disease.

The history of that institution is replete with drama. All his life, Couzens has fought with disease, particularly internal disorders. Recently he underwent several operations at a time when his friends feared he might not recover. He has never enjoyed perfect health, not even in his youth as the struggling son of poverty-stricken parents.

When fortune smiled upon him and he sold out his partnership with Henry Ford for $40,000,000, Couzens invested a part of the money in his hospital for crippled children. It stands today as a monument to health. By it Couzens hopes to give unto others that which has been denied him.

That hospital is Couzen's great love. He keeps in personal touch with its supervision. Money is never spared in the care of the young patients. He visits it frequently to make sure the youngsters are getting proper care.

On such visits Couzens walks through the wards, showering gladness. He shakes hands with as many of the 300 inmates as can lift their arms. He pats the heads of the weighted cripples and wafts kisses to those who are strapped on boards.

Keeps Hobby Secret.

He has carefully hidden this philanthropic adventure. It is a thing sacred to him. In his last political campaign his friends wanted to tell about it to reveal his human side to the electorate. Couzens heatedly declined.

"They call you a cold-blooded tax dodger," one of his managers insisted. "Let's print the truth and stop that libel."

"To hell with what they say!" was Couzen's reply. "I won't mix human welfare with politics."

No one man knows all the Senator's philanthropies. He recently built three nurses' homes in Detroit at a cost of about $2,000,000. His own hospital originally cost $1,000,000, and it costs many tens of thousands annually in upkeep. He gave a $100,000 fund recently to establish wounded soldiers in business. His charities total an amazing sum and they favor either unfortunate children or crippled adults.

Money Worries Him.

A multi-millionaire several times over, Couzens makes no display of his wealth. There is no liveried chauffeur, no footman or butler in his home. He has the appearance of a small-town business man, though his strong face reflects exceptional ability. His money is a source of worry to him, and only by his philanthropies has it brought him happiness.

To a newspaperman he recently said:

"You get more fun out of life than I do. Money may have given me power, but it hasn't given me happiness."

For recreation Couzens recently took up golf. He goes out on the links with Senatorial foursomes and uses a business system in his golf. His shots are short, his stroke methodical. He never gets distance, but he never gets in the rough. His average score is around 95—pretty good.

Of his golfing he recently said:

"The thing that makes me sore about my golf is that I don't play a better game today than I did yesterday."

Stickler for Data.

At his office Couzens is a stickler on facts. He once employed by an army of accountants supply him with data to use in his tax controversy with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. He wanted the facts, and he spent a small fortune to get them.

All in all, he is thoroughly human, with an outlook on life influenced more by his needy youth than by his recent years of great wealth. His viewpoint is best illustrated by an order he gave his secretaries to "favor" all letters written him either in pencil or ink.

"I want the man who is too poor to hire a stenographer or typewriter to be given first consideration," said Couzens. "It is the poor who give me the real views of the masses of the people."

Tomorrow—Senator Morris Sheppard.

You no doubt have thought a dozen times that you would make a check of the things you have been hearing about Marland Special Oil for Fords.

The best way to do a thing you have been contemplating is to set a definite time for it. For this reason the Marland Company has set aside the entire month of August for Ford Owners not now using this oil to once and for all determine these facts:

FIRST: Marland Special Oil for Fords given a fair test will give you the best lubrication for your car that you have ever experienced.

Data for Crime Survey of State Nearly Complete; Finding Due in January

An accurate, detailed "audit," is being made of the books of Missouri's agencies for the punishment of crime, to determine why those agencies have been operating at a loss—that is, to learn why the guilty have not been promptly punished always and the innocent freed.

This is the work of the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice. Strictly speaking, its audit is a survey, but it is a searching, itemized survey and not a generalization of the opinions of Judge Tom, Attorney Dick and Citizen Harry.

The comparison of the survey to an audit and of the State to a corporation, is that of Arthur V. Lashly, St. Louis attorney and operating director of the association. The likeness has impressed him in his movements over the State to organize the work and to enlist the sympathetic interest of citizens in it. In describing progress and methods of the survey, he said:

"The agencies employed by the State for the apprehension, prosecution and punishment of persons accused and convicted of crime constitute one great organization (or ought to), the units of which should be co-ordinated with each other because they are functioning with one end in view—protection of the lives and property of citizens.

Heavy Cost to Taxpayers

"These processes constitute a great business in this State, in the functioning of which probably more of the taxpayers' money is spent than in any other single branch of State Government. I compare it with a great corporation, functioning through various departments, the directors of which are the elected and appointed officials and the stockholders of which are the people. For at least five years, everybody knows, that corporation has been operating at a loss, because the profits of this corporation decrease in the same ratio crime increases."

Neither the "directors" nor the "stockholders" have tried to change the by-laws of this business of Missouri's, Lashly pointed out, nor have they called in an auditor before. Now as a result of action started by the Missouri Bar Association and carried on when numerous organizations created the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice last autumn, the association is making the "audit," looking for the leaks in the business of crime prevention and punishment.

Data Nearly All Gathered.

There is interest in the way the association has gone about its task. Some interesting and some startling discoveries have been made as the official records are examined, but the finding are not to be made known until the work is completed. Probably about next Jan. 1 the reports of the various divisions of inquiry will be published.

Work is nearly done as far as gathering information goes, in the survey of felony cases. This branch of the inquiry entails the greatest amount of labor and will furnish some of the most important information. Already it is indicating some good and some bad spots in the war on crime and suggesting possible reforms to be proposed.

The period to be covered was determined by the records of the St. Louis Police department. Because these records made it most convenient to do so, the survey covers the year from Oct. 1, 1923 to Oct. 1, 1924, in St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph, the three largest cities. To carry it to a later date would mean finding many pending cases. In 35 counties, away from these cities, the survey extends from Oct. 1, 1922, to Oct. 1, 1924, to get a more typical period.

Eleven Counties Grouped.

One county in each of the 35 judicial circuits away from the cities was chosen, taking those which have produced the most criminals lately. Eleven of these counties, containing the larger towns, are to be studied in one group; they are: Green, Jasper, Pettis, Marion, Randolph, St. Louis County, Cole, Cape Girardeau, Boone, Butler and St. Charles.

The remaining 24 counties, which are more or less rural, are: Adair, Mason, Grundy, Nodaway, Clay, Audrain, Holt, Linn, Saline, Johnson, Wright, Phelps, Howell, Jefferson, Dunklin, Newton, Vernon, St. Francois, Henry, Douglas, Franklin, Livingston, Pemiscot, Scotland.

Director Lashly made experimental surveys to develop the type of record card needed, which would show every possible item of information about every individual felony case—what the police or Sheriff had done in the matter, action of the prosecuting authorities, the courts, juries and parole officials and records of bonds.

On June 1, 1924, lawyers and law school graduates began recording on these cards every felony case originating in the period of the survey. In each county there was a local man, familiar with conditions, and recommended by the Circuit Judge, sharing in the work. All the units have been surveyed in this way now except Greene, Jasper and Jackson counties, but the work will be finished in those places in two weeks.

In St. Louis there were 125,000 police record cards to examine and from these 3000, having to do with felony cases, were picked out. The rest had to do with misdemeanor cases, arrests for violating ordinances and on suspicion. The trail of information led through the Circuit Attorney's office, the office of the Circuit Clerk for Criminal Causes, the courts and the Sheriff's office.

A similar method was followed in Kansas City but the Jackson County Sheriff had to be consulted, too, since the Sheriff there is a law enforcement official and not just a court officer, as in St. Louis. In St. Joseph, because of different conditions, the start was made with the Sheriff's records. In the counties the start was made in the Circuit Clerks' offices with the filing of information or indictments, and then preceding and subsequent details were obtained.

Execution of sentence, dismissal of the defendant or stage of the case at the end of the survey period was the goal in every case.

This study of cases is a monumental task in itself, for when they are all in they will total 15,000. Of these, 3000 are in St. Louis and 3,500 in Kansas City and St. Joseph together. However, getting these records is only half the battle; they must be tabulated and studied, to make them mean something.

Card Entries Being Coded.

A force of men is working now in association headquarters, Central National Bank Building, to code the card entries. They will finish in about two weeks, and then about 30 days will be required to tabulate the findings. In coding, each entry is given a number from an index, and in tabulating, the number of each entry will be punched on another case card. This card has columns for the various items of information. When all the cards of this type are put in a machine the machine will classify them and total the entries. For example, the totals will show how many arrests there were for burglary in St. Louis, how many convictions for murder in Jasper County, how many continuances granted in Kansas City courts, and so on.

Statistical experts will base diagrams and tables on these figures and Director Lashly will report on them, describing processes of the administration of criminal laws in trial courts, including prosecutions, and drawing conclusions and making recommendations.

Former Circuit Judge J. Hugo Grimm of St. Louis is studying State Supreme Court decisions in felony cases for the last 10 years, to draw a report on the trend of the Court's opinion on various questions, involving constitutional provisions, the statutes and the common law. Judge Grimm also is gathering data on the laws of criminal prosecution, with a view to recommending changes. This report, however, will be written by Chancellor Hadley of Washington University. Both men have been active in the discussion and study of these subjects.

Parole System Examined.

The three reports mentioned will be of prime importance in the survey, but in Director Lashly's opinion, probably the most important report will be on the parole system, which has been widely criticised. Data for it is being gathered by the Assistant Operating Director, Prof. A. L. Kuhlman of the University of Missouri, aided by five men and two women, studying records at Jefferson City and the Boonville reformatory. It is planned to send questionnaires to officials and citizens who have been interested in all the paroles studied, to determine how effective the administration of the parole laws has been, and whether society and the criminal both have been benefited. If satisfactory answers are not obtained, personal visits will be made to gather information.

Work of the Sheriffs and Coroners is being studied by Dr. Raymond Moley of Columbia University. He has made personal inquiries in St. Louis, Franklin, Jackson, Buchanan and St. Louis Counties. Association workers in every county of the survey likewise are furnishing him with data.

J. E. Boggs of Columbia, Mo., an attorney, former Circuit Clerk and former president of the Missouri Association of Circuit Clerks, is studying office administration by the Sheriffs, prosecutors and Circuit Clerks. He has reports from the association workers on the methods of these officials. He will prepare a complete model set of records for a criminal case.

Specific Objects of Survey.

A psychiatric study of the treatment of persons accused and convicted of crime is to be made for a medical relations report by a committee of the Missouri State Medical Association. This committee has just been appointed and comprises the following Missouri physicians:

A. R. McComas of Sturgeon, chairman; E. J. Goodwin of St. Louis, secretary; Emmett P. North of St. Louis, president of the association; W. A. Clark and James Stewart of Jefferson City, Jabez N. Jackson and George C. Mosher of Kansas City, W. T. Elam of St. Joseph, T. W. Cutton of Van Buren, W. J. Ferguson of Sedalia, J. Frank Harrison of Mexico, W. H. Breuer of St. James, M. A. Bliss and W. H. Vogt of St. Louis.

An experienced man is to be chosen to study the organization and methods of the police of the three larger cities and probably of some of the smaller cities.

Specific objects of the survey outlined by Director Lashly are: 1. To find the places of "mortality" of criminal cases. 2. To find the causes of delays of justice. 3. To learn how sentences are executed. 4. To learn the effect of judicial and institutional administration of the parole system. 5. To learn the effectiveness of the police. 6. To demonstrate the system employed by those administering criminal laws. 7. To learn the method of treatment of persons accused or convicted of crime.

Girl Gained 7 Pounds Nine Years an Invalid

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar coated, pleasant to take tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach upsetting oil itself—they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at Maryville Drug Co. and Gaugh & Evans or any real druggist anywhere in America.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength.

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 5 months old and was an invalid for 9 years, when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues. I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market. She is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day." Mrs. L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

Imitations of McCoy's may be offered but be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine and if after thirty days treatment you are not delighted with results—why, get your money back.

Theodore Gary Tells Economy of Employing Highest Engineering Skill for Road Work

"A plan well laid, is the thing half made," is a maxim which holds true in every sphere of life, but is particularly applicable in the field of engineering.

Automobile manufacturers find their greatest expenditures in getting out a new engine come from the cost of carrying on the experiments, making the designs, and working out the models, all of which is preliminary but very vital to building an efficient engine. For this class of engineering skill, the very highest salaries are paid.

It has been proven and is an accepted truth today that when a large building or a residence is to be erected, the employment of an architect is not only highly desirable, but will more than save the owner the cost of the architect's service, because he will make the proper layout and design, and specify the most suitable materials to be used in that particular building. Proper design prevents waste of materials and insures permanency and satisfaction.

The laying out and constructing of a state highway system require engineering skill, not only of the highest type, but of the widest variety and greatest range.

The first problem in building a state-wide system of highways is the location of the roads. This requires not only a high degree of technical skill, but also a broad common-sense viewpoint, based upon a wide experience as to where the roads should be located to meet the present needs of traffic and future development.

Of the 7,640 miles comprising the state highway system, some 6,100 miles were located by the Legislature. Only designated points in each county, however, were named, and the engineers must locate the road properly and economically between these points, "taking into consideration the probable volume and weight of inter-county and intra-county vehicular traffic over such state highways, the density of population and the character of the territory through which state highways are to be constructed. Durability and low maintenance costs shall be considered in connection with the probable volume and weight of such traffic." The average person does not appreciate nor understand what a vast array of problems such requirements bring forth. They are problems which require for their solution a scientific background of technical training, a broad experience in this particular field, and an almost uncanny foresight as to what probable demands will be made of that particular road, both as to volume and kind of traffic.

It takes money to secure engineers properly qualified by education, training and experience to discharge the almost endless variety of duties demanded of them by such complex problems. A private concern could not obtain the services of a highly qualified corps of engineers at the same salaries the Missouri State Highway Commission is paying, for the reason that our engineers appreciate the future opportunities which a high public position opens to them. This, together with the fact that they are filled with a desire to render a service and do a big job well, has enabled Missouri to secure very high-grade engineers to carry on its road program.

The economy of employing high-grade engineers has been demonstrated time and again even in the short history of the present State Highway Department. Only one of the many instances of great savings will be mentioned here. By relocating some of the state secondary roads during 1923 and 1924, a total of seventy-eight miles has been saved, which, at an average construction cost of $19,000 a mile represents an actual present saving of $1,482,000. This, however, is not all; the roads on the new locations are invariably built at less expense than the roads on the old routes. The saving is not alone in the cost of building, but there will be a saving in the repairs and maintenance for all time to come of the relocated routes and the seventy-eight miles of highway deducted from the secondary system. The saving does not stop here. When these roads are built, they will carry every day of the year an average of more than one hundred cars a day for their whole length, and this reduction in mileage will result in a saving to the traveling public of 2,748,000 miles a year; this means a saving in gasoline alone of more than $40,000 a year, conservatively figured, for all future time on each 100 cars.

The saving of time, the saving in wear and tear on automobiles, and the added comfort and convenience of shorter routes cannot be estimated in dollars and cents, but in the aggregate it is enormous.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Grain futures finished fractionally lower on the Board of Trade today. Price swings were narrow.

Definite weakness in wheat came late. The final change in attitude brought heavy offerings into the pit and a steadying downward revision.

Corn was inclined to follow the leading cereal. Coupled with the fact that the promised bumper crop yield has been so well advertised was the precipitation in the southwestern dry territory. Both conditions served to discourage buyers.

Oats trade was narrow.

Provisions steadied late.

OBITUARY.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griffey, who was born July 30, passed away Monday, August 3, at the family home in the Harmony neighborhood. Although deprived of the joys of an earthly life little Claudie will share all the joys of the life beyond for Jesus said while here, "Suffer little children to come unto Me and forbid them not for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." How cheerless the home would be without the hope of immortal life. But over man's last resting place the bright bow of hope shines with a luster that is undimmed by the deepest sorrows of life.

The funeral services were conducted at the home by Rev. R. Underwood, pastor of Harmony church. The body now rests in the New Friendship cemetery, a few miles east of Gentry. The many friends join in extending their sympathy to the bereaved. We would say in the words of one of the poets, "In the cold, moist earth we laid (him), as the forest casts her leaf; and wept that one so lovely, should have a life so brief." May their resolve be that of David's, "He cannot come back to us, but I can go to Him."

REV. R. UNDERWOOD.

GOOD HOPE

August 4. The hum of the threshing outfits will soon be a thing of the past. Guy Blanchard threshed for Russel Holmes today. The Will Jones machine threshed for Earl Dowling and the Henry Behm rig was at Cicero Farrens, if this weather continues nice, most all of the grain in our community will be in the bins by Saturday night.

Corn, old corn is a scarce article in our neighborhood, some few men have a little for their own use, but none to sell. Mart Young bought a load from George Johnson several miles northwest of here, giving $1.10 per bushel.

Those who shipped cattle through the Farmers Union from Hopkins last week were Harold Hill, Oliver Wilson and Charlie Taylor. Today, Mrs. Edwards, Charlie Taylor, Glen Jeffers, and Abe Miller shipped hogs.

Glen Jeffers went to St. Joseph today with a truck load of sheep and on to Kansas City, returning tomorrow night.

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jeffers drove to Parnell, to take Mrs. Jeffers' mother, Mrs. Andy Cook, Maryville, who went to Rochester to consult the Mayo Bros.

The W. W. Club is supposed to meet with Mrs. Jeffers next Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Ulmer are to entertain the missionary society from the Hopkins Christian Church tomorrow evening a picnic supper will be served on the lawn.

The county convention of the Farmer's Union is to meet in Maryville next Saturday. The president, Frank Miller, Hopkins is to designate a place and the members are to have a basket dinner. The delegates from the Highland local are Oliver Wilson, Earl Dowling, Ula Morehouse and W. D. Jones.

The visitors are Mrs. Zula Owen and daughter, Miss Ruth, from Hiawatha, Kan., who are visiting their sisters, Mrs. Ula Morehouse and Mrs. Henry Morehouse.

Miss Opal Gray, east of Hopkins is spending this week with her grandmother, Mrs. Martha J. Morehouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burch of Burlington Junction were calling at the G. B. Ulmer home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Sharp from Bedford, Ia., were visiting Mrs. Sharp's father, John Graybill Sunday.

Mrs. Rachel Merideth, Seymore, Ia., is here for an indefinite visit with her sister, Mrs. Jim Neal and Mr. Neal; also many other relatives. Mrs. Neal gave a dinner last Sunday in honor of her sister, Mrs. Merideth. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ringold and Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Reynolds and family.

Some weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Oland Ringold drove to Dupree, S. Dak., to visit Wm. Birkenholz, a brother of Mrs. Ringold and we hear they got there in time for the harvesting and are now maaging a threshring crew in the great wheat fields of Dakota.

Next Sunday is the regular preaching day at Good Hope. Sunday School at 10:00 a. m.

The Rev. and Mrs. B. W. Smallwood from Graham visited yesterday and today with Joe and Tine Miller's folks. Mrs. Smallwood is a sister of the Miller men.

We hear that our old friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hull, who once lived here, but now in Maryville, are moving to Evanston, Ill. Their only daughter lives in Evanston.

THIS WEEK IN MISSOURI HISTORY.

Compiled by the State Historical Society of Missouri, Columbia. Floyd C. Shoemaker, Secretary. August 2-8.

This week is significant in the recent military history of Missouri. Two events stand out, the one marking the state's first actual participation in the World War, and the other definitely concluding her part in that conflict. Eight years ago on the fifth of August (1917), Missouri presented the national military authorities with her state troops, then brought up to war footing, for service in France. Four years ago on the second of August (1921) the people of Missouri, at a special election, voted an amendment to the state constitution providing for the payment of a bonus to all Missourians who served in the war.

Concerning the first of these events, Harvey C. Clark, adjutant general of Missouri, in making his report to the governor in 1920, said: "On August 5, 1917, the State of Missouri was able to offer and have accepted for service in France, its maximum allotment of state troops at full war strength, numbering 14,766 officers and men. In addition to this, we furnished during the war on dates they were called under the Selective Service Law, and by voluntary enlistment in the regular Army, Navy and Marine Corps, 141,476 officers and men, or a grand total of 156,232."

"Of this total," says Floyd C. Shoemaker in his Missouri and Missourians, "14,756 were Missouri National guardsmen, 92,843 were Missouri selective service men, 30,780 were volunteers in the regular army, 14,132 were enlisted men in the navy, and 3,721 were enlisted men in the marine corps."

It is a coincidence that both in the Civil and in the World War Missouri contributed approximately the same number of men. Her population in 1860 was 1,182,012, in 1920 it had risen to 3,404,055.

The Missouri national guard was incorporated in the Forty-second and Thirty-fifth Divisions, both of which saw heavy service in France. Missouri's selective service men went principally to the Eighty-ninth Division, which was trained at Camp Funston, Kansas, under Major-General Leonard Wood. This division, also, had gained for itself a distinguished record by the time it was discharged, May, 1919, after having served as a part of the Army of Occupation in Germany. Many Missourians served in other organizations, and did so with bravery and distinction.

There was a total of 10,588 casualties among Missourians in the service, 3,644 killed and 6,944 wounded, according to the adjutant general's report. This means that Missouri troops bore over 3 per cent of the total battle deaths and wounded of the American Armies. Many awards of distinction were made to those Missourians whose unusual service came to the attention of officials. Missouri's record on the fields of France, and in the training camps at home, was one of honor.

It was out of a feeling of respect and gratitude towards the veterans of the World War, that the people of Missouri, four years after the state's first contribution to the cause, voted to repay, in part, their debt to the survivors, many of whom had suffered both from disabilities incurred in the service and from economic conditions at home following the war.

In the report of the bonus commission, included in the adjutant general's report for 1921-24, it is recorded that: "At a special election held August 2, 1921, it was voted by the people that the State of Missouri should pay a bonus to Missourians who had served honorably in the war with Germany."

The amendment to the constitution provided that a sum, not to exceed $15,000,000, be raised by a bond issue and paid out at the rate of $10 per month of service which the claimant had to his credit, the maximum amount being set at $250.

According to Adjutant General Raupp's report, 143,500 men, out of the 166,000 in the service, had applied for the bonus prior to the 31st of December, 1922, which was the date set for all applications to be in. The appropriation of $15,000,000 was sufficient to pay only 111,675 of these claims, leaving 31,825 still unpaid. The Fifty-second General Assembly accordingly appropriated an additional sum of $4,600,000 in bonds, subject to the approval of the people, to complete the payment. At a special election held February 26, 1924, the amendment approving of this action passed, and payment of claims was resumed. At the close of 1924, a total of 133,525 claims had been paid, leaving only some 10,000 yet unpaid, a large percentage of which are being held for sufficient data and investigation by the bonus commission. The average amount of the bonus payments was around $130, and the total amount set-aside by the state was more than $20,000,000, including the premium on the bonds, the expense of administration, and the like. The total expense for the claims was almost $18,000,000.

Thus, it is by coincidence that during this week in history, events took place which marked the beginning and the end of Missouri's work in the World War. In beginning it she willingly assumed her role among the states, and contributed enthusiastically to the cause for which the nation was united; in concluding the war chapter of her recent history, she acknowledged and in part paid her debt to the young men who went from her farms and cities to help her in the performance of her national obligation.

Columbia, Mo., Aug. 4.—Prof. W. C. Curtis of Missouri University, has been appointed regional chairman of the committee given the task of raising a $5,000 fund for the further education of John T. Scopes, recently convicted in the Dayton, Tenn., anto-evolution trial. Dr. Curtis was one of the defense witnesses who went to Dayton to testify but eliminated when the court refused to hear scientific evidence.

Even if wealth is a burden lack of it is more so.

"FEDERAL AID" IS EXPLAINED

FUND DESIGNED TO DEVELOP INTER-STATE ROADS

FROM GENERAL FUND

Is Apportioned Among States According to Area, Population and Rural Mail Delivery Service

Few persons in Missouri fully understand federal aid. Although the newspapers printed columns about it, the real workings of the act are not familiar to the average Missourian.

The federal aid policy was adopted by the United States to aid in the development of a system of permanent interstate roads. The first act, passed in 1916, carried only a relatively small appropriation which was used largely in encouraging the development of roads. The federal aid act of 1921, however, dipped boldly into the highway problem with an annual appropriation of 75 million dollars to be distributed among the states to aid in the development of a system of permanent interstate roads.

From Treasury General Fund

The money for federal aid comes from the general fund of the United States treasury. It is allotted to the states on the basis of area, population and road mileage, one-third in the ratio which the area of the state bears to the total area of all states, one-third in the ratio which the population of the state bears to the population of all states and one-third in the ratio which the rural delivery routes and star routes bear to the total in all states as shown by the records of the postmaster general. No state, however, shall receive less than one-half of 1 per cent of the year's allotment.

It should be understood that the government is interested only in the development of important interstate roads—roads which afford greater service to persons outside the counties than to the counties themselves. The federal aid act provides that "the secretary of agriculture shall give preference to such projects as will expedite the completion of an adequate and connected system of interstate highways." This explains why federal aid is not available for unimportant road projects.

For the purpose of the federal aid act, highways are divided into two classes, primary or interstate roads and secondary or intercounty roads. Before aid is available to any state the state highway department must designate a system of main highways, of which not more than 3-7 shall be primary roads and the balance secondary roads, the total mileage of the system not to exceed 7 per cent of the total road mileage of the state at the time the act was passed. The system thus designated must be approved by the secretary of agriculture and cannot be changed without the sanction of his department. All federal aid funds allotted to the state must be spent on this system.

Meets 50 Per Cent of Cost

To secure federal aid the state highway department must submit to the secretary of agriculture a project statement setting out the proposed construction of reconstruction on which aid is asked. There are certain general requirements that must be met before aid is granted. The work must be done in accordance with the laws of the state under the direct supervision of the highway department, subject to inspection, and approval by the secretary of agriculture. The wearing surface must be at least eighteen feet wide unless impracticable on account of physical conditions, excessive costs, traffic requirements or legal obstacles, and only such durable types of surface and materials shall be approved as will adequately meet existing and probable future traffic requirements, due consideration to be given to the type and character of road best suited to the locality. When the project is finally approved, the secretary of the treasury is notified and the amount approved is set aside for that project, the government paying 50 per cent of the cost of the project up to $20,000 per mile. All roads constructed with federal aid must be maintained. If the state fails to do so the secretary of agriculture is authorized, after giving ninety days notice, to place the road in condition and charge the cost against the state's share of federal aid, and no more projects may be approved until the amount has been repaid.

The federal aid act presupposes that road construction on the state system is in the hands of the highway department, which is the case in most states, and all regulations are made with that idea in mind. The act provides that before any projects are approved the state must make provision for the state funds required to construct, reconstruct and maintain all federal aid highways in the state and that the funds shall be under the direct control of the highway department.

Albany Farmer Takes Own Life

Ben McCrary Goes Squirrel Hunting —Shoots Self

Albany, Mo., Aug. 6—Ben McCrary, 65, farmer living six miles north of Albany, committed suicide here yesterday by blowing off the top of his head with a shotgun. Domestic trouble is said to be the cause of his death.

He left home with the announcement that he was going to hunt squirrels, and had been gone but a few minutes when the relatives heard him shoot. They found him several hours afterward.

Surviving are three sons, Joseph, William, and Frank, and four brothers, Sol, George, Jess, and James, all of Albany.

Home Fires in United States Average 618 During Every Day of the Year

(Prepared by D. A. Caldwell.)

Home fires average 618 every day. This statement by "The National Board of Fire Underwriters" is worthy of serious thought. One fire in a home somewhere in the U. S. every third minute, with the average damage $415.00 per dwelling burned is something to think about particularly when the increase the past 3 years in this form of loss has been 25 per cent.

Sheer carelessness in some form is at the bottom of an overwhelming majority of dwelling house blazes. 'Exposure' to fires in other buildings ranks first in the list, but defective chimneys and flues, runs it a close second, and other primary causes listed as follows: Sparks on roofs; stoves, furnaces, boilers and their pipes; matches, smoking; petroleum and its products, and electricity.

During the past 5 years 50 per cent of the total American fire loss was caused by defective chimneys and flues. Far too few communities yet recognize the importance of regulating by ordinance the erection of chimneys, although the number of these local laws has multiplied rapidly recently. A firm foundation for a chimney is essential and one of the best guarantees against fire.

Fifty-one per cent of the total fire loss inflicted by "Sparks on Roofs" during the past 3 years occurred in residential property, so that hardly any denunciation of the wooden shingle can be too harsh. Wooden shingle roofs in combination with chimneys, faulty or otherwise have been accountable for more dwelling house fires alone than any other defect in the entire range of construction or equipment. It is a sign of the times, and a notable one, that municipal ordinances intended to abolish the use of wooden shingles as roof covering are growing yearly in number.

It is likely that the garaging of motor vehicles under the dwelling roof, without the provision of adequate cut-offs, or else exposure of the residence by an adjacent frame structure housing an automobile and its fuel, are responsible for the largest fraction of all the "Petroleum and its Products" waste, which in the last five years totaled almost sixteen and a half millions of dollars.

During the same period lightning contributed to dwelling house destruction more than 6¼ millions of dollars. When properly installed, lightning rods have a value out of all proportion to their cost, a fact which has been demonstrated countless times in countless communities.

Suggestions made that would tend to reduce fire losses and save many human lives annually are: use of incombustible lath to retard the rapid spread of fires, giving time to confine them to point of origin; more than one exit for every story; equipment of every home with one or more modern, chemical, hand fire extinguishers, with every able-bodied member of the family thoroughly conversant with their use, and their renewal yearly when not used; and the keeping of matches in earthen-ware containers and out of the reach of children.

Fifty-one per cent of all claims presented to the insurance companies for adjustment are on dwellings. This record is worth your consideration. Your home should be the safest place in the community. Is it?

Avoid Tire Trouble
By Using
Firestone
Gum-Dipped
Cords

The original cost of the famous Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord is no more than that of an ordinary tire—the ultimate cost much less.

Gum-Dipped Cords last much longer and give far greater service. Tire trouble is reduced to a minimum with these wonderful mileage makers.

The exclusive Gum-Dipping process gives these tires additional strength to stand up under the most grueling test to which they can be put. It protects them from the heat of friction and the rotting of moisture because every strand of cord in the tire is impregnated with tough, lively rubber.

STUDEBAKER Standard Six Duplex-Phaeton

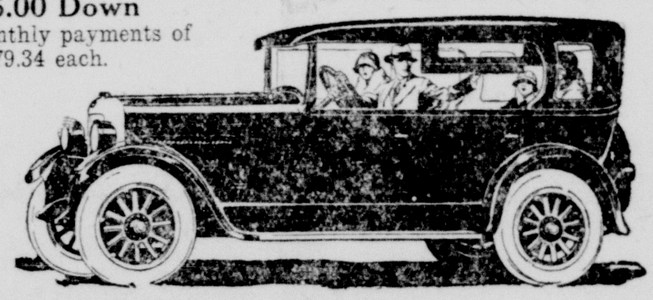
$435.00 Down
and 12 monthly payments of $79.34 each.



A Year Ahead of Its Time

The One-Profit Duplex—more up-to-date than the newest "yearly models"

THE Duplex Body, introduced by Studebaker in September, 1924, is a revolutionary new-type open car—with advantages open cars have never possessed before.

Within its steel-framed upper structure are concealed roller side enclosures which the driver may lower in 30 seconds without leaving his seat—giving instant protection from rain, snow, cold or wind. With equal ease the enclosures roll up out of sight.

So obvious are the advantages of the Duplex that Studebaker has become the outstanding leader in the open-car field among cars selling above $1000.

Triumph of Studebaker Engineering

Other manufacturers will undoubtedly have to follow in Studebaker's footsteps. For any open car today without this unique advantage is obsolete.

But at the time this advertisement is written, Studebaker—and Studebaker alone—offers you this double convenience.

Another important engineering advantage pioneered by Studebaker is the use of genuine, full-size balloon tires, with steering mechanism, fenders and body lines especially designed for them.

Other manufacturers are gradually following Studebaker's lead—but remember, Studebaker developed this important feature 11 months ago.

On the Studebaker Standard Six Duplex-Phaeton illustrated above, you'll find an automatic spark control, safety lighting control on the steering wheel, 8-day clock, gasoline gauge on the dash, improved one-piece windshield, special coincidental lock of ignition and steering gear, foot controlled cowl ventilator, completely machined crankshaft, oil drain valve which a girl can operate without soiling her hands, and waterproof ignition—all Studebaker features.

These are a few of the points which show that Studebaker cars are more up-to-date than the "new models" now being announced in dizzy succession.

And any automobile expert will tell you that new models of necessity are engineering experiments. Only after months of use in the hands of owners can all mechanical flaws be eliminated. Engineers are human—and it takes time to eliminate mistakes.

Thus, when you buy a Studebaker, you not only get a motor car that is completely up to date, but you also eliminate all guesswork and gamble. Your new car has been tested and proved satisfactory in the hands of thousands of owners.

Come in today—and see the One-Profit Duplex which has made all other open cars obsolete. It is called a "one-profit" car because all vital units are built entirely by Studebaker—thus eliminating the extra profits and overhead of outside parts makers which many other manufacturers must pay and include in the purchase price to you. This explains the fine quality and the low price.
